REVIEW COURSE

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Digestive Disease Week (DDW) Review Course will review important and salient information presented at the 2010 American Gastroenterological Association meeting on May 1 to May 5, 2010 in New Orleans, Louisiana. Experts from the field will distill and put into clinical perspectives the information presented within a specific area.

The Course features two half-days of lectures with question periods, panel discussions, and time for informal discussion.

OBJECTIVES

At the end of the Course, participants will be:

- Better informed about the latest developments in gastroenterology;
- Able to integrate this information into their clinical practice to improve patient management;
- Better acquainted with the views and clinical approaches of their peers;
- Equipped to impart this information to non-participants.

This program is made possible through unrestricted educational grants provided by:
